Complex models do not improve much on linear regression are performed is crucial perform similarly to supervised models

Unsupervised models

How validation and testing

There is strong variability between datasets

Performances on par with other predictors can be reached without structural features